The Works of Saint Augustine
A Translation for the 21st Century

About New City Press

New City Press wants to foster a culture of unity and dialogue based on gospel values through creating and publishing comprehensive content that responds to the needs of today’s society. We publish both scholarly and popular works that attempt to foster a greater unity in the world. Our books explore theological foundations for faith and spirituality, ecumenical and interreligious initiatives, and connections between religion and human identity, relationships, and culture. We are a member of the Association of Catholic Publishers.

About the Augustinian Heritage Institute

In 1990, the Augustinian Heritage Institute was founded by John E. Rotelle, OSA to oversee the English translation of The Works of Saint Augustine, A Translation for the 21st Century. This project was started in conjunction with New City Press. At that time, English was the only major Western language into which the Works of Saint Augustine in their entirety had not yet been attempted. Existing translations were often archaic or faulty and the scholarship was outdated. These new translations offer detailed introductions, extensive critical notes, both a general index and scriptural index for each work as well as the best translations in the world.

The Works of Saint Augustine, A Translation for the 21st Century in its complete form will be published in 49 volumes. To date, 43 volumes have been published.

“New City Press and the Augustinian Heritage Institute have undertaken a monumental and immensely valuable project… I am already grateful that I can recommend the excellent edition of The Trinity to my students with its detailed introduction, extensive critical notes, scriptural and general indexes and above all, its fine translation…. It supersedes all other English editions in every respect....”

Dr. Carol Harrison, Department of Theology, University of Durham, England

Expositions of the Psalms — 6 Volumes (6" x 9")
Translation and notes by Maria Boulding, OSB
John E. Rotelle, OSA, editor

Vol. 1 Ps 1-31  III/15
Introduction by Michael Fiedrowicz
Augustine’s interpretation of the psalms aims to transform the songs of the old covenant into a “new song” (canticum novum). Exp. Ps 32,II,s.1,8. 466 pp.; (2000)

Vol. 2 Ps 33-50  III/16
“During the Old Testament period ... the New Testament was hidden there as fruit is hidden in the root. If you look for fruit in the root, of course you find nothing. Yet neither will you find any fruit on the branches, if it has not sprung from the root.” Exp. Ps. 72,1. 462 pp.; (2000)

Vol. 3 Ps 51-72  III/17
Augustine had a predilection for picturesque and symbolic modes of speech. In the poetic imagery of the psalms this preference found an inexhaustible reservoir, on which he drew to work out more receptively or more creatively the evocative power or associations latent in the biblical words. 518 pp.; (2001)

Vol. 4 Ps 73-98  III/18
Augustine was convinced that in the meeting between scriptural declarations and the faith-experience of his own time, and only there, does exposition attain its true goal. 510 pp.; (2002)

Vol. 5 Ps 99-120  III/19
The prophetic character of the psalms - Augustine’s fundamental conviction is that the psalms represent a prophecy of the new covenant, and only acquire their true and full meaning at this level of understanding; “Let this be written for another generation” Ps. 101. 558 pp.; (2003)

Vol. 6 Ps 121-150  III/20
Augustine tried to harmonize the Old Testament’s declarations about the final destiny of human beings with the eschatological faith of the Church, and so to make them available for use in Christian prayer. 536 pp.; (2004)

Paperback: 978-1-56548-289-0, 6 x 9 in., 173 pp., 2008 $24.95

Homilies on the Gospel of John (1-40)

Translation and notes by Edmund Hill, OP, introduction, notes and edited by Allan Fitzgerald, OSA, Boniface Ramsey, series editor

This volume of the first 40 homilies are masterpieces not only of theological profundity but also of pastoral engagement.

Volume III/12 Homilies
Hardcover: 978-1-56548-319-4, 6 x 9 in., 604 pp., 2009 $59.00
Paperback: 978-1-56548-318-7, 6 x 9 in., 604 pp., 2009 $39.95

Essential Expositions of the Psalms

Classroom Resource Edition
Michael Cameron, introduction and editor, translation and notes by Edmund Hill, OP and Maria Boulding, OSB, Boniface Ramsey, series editor

978-1-56548-510-5 512pp. 2015 $39.95

Essential Expositions of the Psalms is a collection distilled from the 6-volume set in the Works of Saint Augustine. As the psalms are a microcosm of the Old Testament, so the Expositions of the Psalms can be seen as a microcosm of Augustinian thought. In the Book of Psalms are to be found the history of the people of Israel, the theology and spirituality of the Old Covenant, and a treasury of human experience expressed in prayer and poetry. So too does the work of expounding the psalms recapitulate and focus the experiences of Augustine’s personal life, his theological reflections and his pastoral concerns as Bishop of Hippo.

The Works of Saint Augustine
A Translation for the 21st Century

Letters — 4 Volumes (6" x 9")
Translation, introduction, and notes by Roland J. Teske, SJ
Boniface Ramsey, editor

Vol. 1 No. 1-99
The first volume of the Letters of Saint Augustine covers the period from his retreat at Cassiciacum in Italy in the fall of 386 (or the spring of 387) to the height of the Donatist controversy in 408 (or 409). 440 pp.; (2001)

Vol. 2 No. 100-155
The fifty-six letters contained in this volume were, with a few possible exceptions, written between 408 and 414. During these years the Donatist schism came to a head and was in principle healed by the Conference of Carthage in June of 411. 438 pp.; (2002)

Vol. 3 No. 156-210
The sixty-two letters contained in this volume were written between 414 and 422 or 423, though a number of them are virtually impossible to date with any certainty. During these years Augustine became deeply involved in the controversy on grace with Pelagius and his ally, Caelestius, both of whom had passed through North Africa shortly after the fall of Rome. 424 pp.; (2004)

Vol. 4 No. 211-270 and Divjak 1*-29*
The present volume contains ninety-four letters, the last sixty-three of the previously known letters and the thirty-one more recently discovered and edited by Johannes Divjak in the final quarter of the last century. There are eighty-one letters of which Augustine is the author. 352 pp.; (2005)

The Trinity
Translation, introduction and notes by Edmund Hill, OP, John E. Rotelle, editor
In the first seven books Augustine searches the scriptures for clues to understanding the Trinity and then defends the orthodox statement of the doctrine against the Arians. In the last eight books Augustine seeks to understand the mystery of the divine Trinity by observing an analogous trinity in the image of God, which is the human mind; and in so doing, he also suggests a program for the serious Christian of spiritual self-discovery and renewal.

The Donatist Controversy I
Translation by Maureen Tilley and Boniface Ramsey
Boniface Ramsey and David G. Hunter, editors

Augustine’s writings against the members of the “Donatist” church in North Africa contain his mature thought on the nature of the sacraments, the morality of the clergy, and the importance of mercy and charity in maintaining church unity. This volume contains the first new English translations of Augustine’s writings against the Donatists in more than 100 years, and in the case of at least one writing there has never been an English translation until now. Augustine’s responses to conflicts within the North African church remain surprisingly relevant to contemporary crises in Catholicism.

This volume includes the work: Ad Catholicos fratres / De unitate ecclesiae, Contra epistulam Parmeniani, Contra litteras Petiliani, De baptism, De correctione Donatistarum

The Augustine Catechism
The Enchiridion on Faith, Hope and Charity
Translation and notes by Bruce Harbert, introduction by Boniface Ramsey, editor
978-1-56548-298-2 143pp. 2008 $18.95
Written as a favor for a friend, this “little work” is a wonderful explanation of the Christian faith: a true catechism from which, throughout the history of the church, other catechisms have drawn and learned.

The Monastic Rules
Translation and notes by Sister Agatha Mary, SPB and Gerald Bonner, foreword by George Lawless, OSA, commentary by Gerald Bonner, Boniface Ramsey, editor
978-1-56548-130-5 149pp. 2004 $19.95
The Monastic Rules is a model of clarity in its approach to a complex subject, and it succeeds admirably in being satisfying on both the scholarly and the spiritual level in unveiling the monastic writings of Augustine of Hippo.

Soliloquies
Augustine’s Inner Dialogue
Translation and notes by Kim Paffenroth, introduction by Boniface Ramsey, John E. Rotelle, OSA, editor
978-1-56548-142-8 108pp. 2000 $19.95
Soliloquies is a work from Augustine’s early life, shortly after his conversion, in which are visible all the seeds contained in his future writings.
